

Simple Kitchens

The kitchen in this old house has never been very satisfactory as it has some unusual and constraining structural features which present the kitchen planner with a challenge (this was Thomas's reaction when he first saw it). Meeting this challenge, he prepared an imaginative and well thought out scheme which exploited the room's irregularities giving me a much larger working area than I thought possible as well as larger and ergonomically well designed cupboards.

As the work progressed, the high quality of his work became apparent. I was also particularly impressed by the way he organised everything (including the work of his electrician, plumber, plasterer and work-top fitters) with the minimum disruption to the running of the house. All the work was done on time and on cost (the latter being very reasonable)

I was so pleased with my new kitchen that I then arranged for Thomas to design and install new cupboards, counter and lighting in my bathroom. This work has now been finished and is just as successful as the kitchen and I am sure I shall have more work for Simple Kitchens in the future.
